Re-canvass Vote In Wards Where Machines Failed

The vote in several election districts in the city of Kingston where voting machines failed to register the vote cast at the general election last week, will be re-canvassed in the presence of the county board of canvassers' committee which will consist of two Republican and two Democratic supervisors and in the presence of the chairman of the Republican County Central Committee and the chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee and in the presence of the inspector and representatives of or the custodians of the voting machines.

At the last general election voting machines in several districts of the city failed to register the vote cast for certain candidates. When the board of supervisors met Tuesday to canvass the vote as a county board of canvassers they were faced with this unusual problem. The committee on examination of returns reported that the returns had been examined and found to be correct with the exception of certain districts in the city where voting machines had evidently failed to record the proper vote. The report of the committee stated that all returns were found to be correct except in the following instances:

Ward 2, District 1, city of Kingston. On Machine No. 1 there was no tabulation of any vote cast for state comptroller, attorney general, chief judge of the court of appeals and the machine had also failed to register any vote in the negative for Proposition No. 1.

Ward 2, District 2, city of Kingston. On the machine was no record of the vote cast for sheriff or coroner.

Ward 10, District 1, there was no tabulation of the vote for presidential or vice-presidential electors, judge of the supreme court or member of congress. There were no affirmative votes recorded for Amendment No. 1.

Ward 12, District 2, there was no vote recorded for presidential electors, governor, lieutenant-governor. No affirmative or negative vote was recorded for Constitutional Amendment No. 1 or any vote in the negative for Proposition No. 1.

The committee on examination of returns recommended that the chairman, Supervisor Stanbrough, appoint a bi-partisan committee of the board to recanvass the vote in these districts and that the inspectors of election be summoned to appear at the re-canvass. It was the recommendation of the committee that the committee on tabulation of returns continue to tabulate the vote cast in accordance with the returns as filed, subject to any change which a re-canvass of the several districts in the city might show.

A motion was offered by Supervisor Lyons of Olive that the board as a county board of canvassers summon the inspectors of election of the several election districts where the machines failed to record, together with the custodians of the machines and the county chairman of the Republican and Democratic County Central Committee together with two Republican and two Democratic supervisors to meet together that in the presence of these persons the votes be re-canvassed. The motion was carried and the chair appointed as the committee from the board Supervisors J. L. Rowe, Myers, Feeney and Finch. A meeting of this committee together with the other persons who are to witness the recount will be held as soon as the members may be called together and the machines produced by the city custodian.

The board of canvassers recessed until Thursday evening at 7:15 when a further report will be made. The committee on tabulating returns will continue with its work.

Following the recess of the board as a county board of canvassers Chairman Elsworth called the board of supervisors together for the opening session of the annual meeting. A report of the business transacted by the board will be found elsewhere.

LITTLE CASH REALIZED IN LARGEST REALTY AUCTION

Chicago, Nov. 16 (AP).—The greatest realty auction ever held is on, but its cash returns are meager.

For most of the 400,000 parcels of Cook county real estate, worth more than $1,500,000,000 and ordered sold for $100,764,641 in 1930 taxes, are being forfeited to the state, since few persons will buy even at extremely low prices.

About a twentieth of the total has so far been offered by County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough, but scarcely $10,000 in cash has been received, his office said today.

Detailed figures are not obtainable, but the property ordered sold includes about half the realty in the county; on the remainder $120,687,447 has been collected.

Robbed of $9,000.

Philadelphia, Nov. 16 (AP).—Mr. and Mrs. G. Harrison Frazier, Jr., socially prominent Philadelphians, and a maid were bound and gagged and threatened with torture in their Chestnut Hill home early today by two burglars who escaped with $9,000 in jewelry and cash.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP)—Treasury receipts for November 14 were $4,652,721.77; expenditures $8,681,384.36; balance $65,684,479.48. Customs duties for 14 days of November were $12,232,585.20.

Sales And Beer Tax For Short Session

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP)—The outgoing congress apparently will have another opportunity to vote on both a manufacturers' sales tax and beer.

Congressional leaders close to the administration have indicated they will not be surprised if the treasury recommends a sales levy in view of the mounting deficit and the failure of new taxes to produce expected revenue.

Also, a ballot on modification of the Volstead act to legalize beer for revenue purposes has been predicted by most of the leaders of both parties in view of the wet strength displayed in the general elections.

The present congress rejected the sales tax and beer last spring and the attitude on those issues of the nearly 200 "lame ducks" resulting from the primary and general elections still is unknown to the party leaders. Wet organizations contend sufficient gains have been made in the present congress since adjournment last July to make immediate modification of the Volstead act possible. Dry groups hold the opposite view.

Prohibitionists in congress, led by Senator Borah of Idaho, are prepared to oppose vigorously any attempt to legalize beer. Representative Rainey of Illinois, Democratic floor leader, doubts that sufficient wet strength has been gained to overcome this opposition.

Gives Famous Plates To The Senate House

Mrs. Emily Crane Chadbourne of Sally Tack, Stone Ridge, has presented to the trustees of the Senate House Association—of which she is one—a set of the famous Washington bicentennial plates and a framed map showing the various parcels of wild land assigned to Washington upon the ticket purchased by him in the lottery arranged by Lord Stirling for the sale of timber lands in the county of Ulster in 1771. Also Mrs. Chadbourne accompanies the map with a copy of Washington's letter to Lord Stirling, accepting the lots thus won by him. Two of these lots are situate on the border between what now is the boundary of the town of Wawarsing and the town of Denning; the other are situate in the town of Marbletown at the base of the Shawangunk Mountains directly below Paltz Point—Mohonk.

In acknowledging the receipt of all this from Mrs. Chadbourne, Judge Clearwater, president of the Senate House Association, said: "We are glad to have all this coming from you because you are the owner and occupant of the Sally Tacks Tavern just across the street from the house in which Washington spent the night on his trip through Ulster county in November, 1782."

Bus Companies Reach Agreement

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP).—An agreement between two bus operators giving service between New Paltz and Poughkeepsie, has terminated an investigation by the Public service commission, the commission announced today.

The bus service between the Ulster county and Dutchess county communities is given by the DuBois & Elliott Company, operating between Poughkeepsie and the New Paltz-Lloyd town line, and the Van Gonsic Bros., operating from the town line to New Paltz.

The commission's investigation showed that although 16 daily round trips were made by the two companies, the service was unsatisfactory because of transfer schedule at the town line. Under the agreement, joint schedules will be published providing for 12 round trips daily with immediate transfer connections.

Little Girl Hit By Auto Truck

Mary Motrie, 5, of 95 Hasbrouck avenue, was injured about the right arm and shocked when knocked down by a Dodge truck driven by Gregory Gross, of 253 Washington street, Newburgh, about 3:45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The little girl was rushed to the Kingston Hospital in the car of George Clearwater, who was passing, and after receiving treatment was taken home. Her injuries were said not to be serious. The driver of the truck in making his report of the accident said the little girl was crossing at Pierpont street, holding the hand of a man and ran into the truck.

Governor Had Slight Attack of Influenza

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP).—With the time drawing near for his meeting with President Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt is recovering from a light case of influenza and hastening to put his official business in order before he departs for his visit to the White House.

Planning to devote most of his working time between now and Saturday to the state budget, the president-elect avowedly is giving no further consideration, at the moment, to what will transpire at his conference with the nation's chief executive.

There were indications today that Mr. Roosevelt will suggest next Tuesday or Wednesday as the date for the meeting at which he has agreed to talk over informally and personally with Mr. Hoover "the entire situation" pertaining to war debt matters and other national affairs.

Propped up in bed at his first press conference in five days, the New York governor late yesterday revealed that the cold with which he went to bed last Friday developed into "a slight attack of the flu".

This, he said he believed, was contracted on the all day automobile ride from Boston to Albany through a downpour of rain about a week before election.

"I ached all over," he related, "even to the top of my head. But I feel all right now, although a little weak".

The governor said he "got pretty wet" on his right side during the ride through New England. The condition was aggravated on the eve of election when he rode in an open touring car through a Hudson Valley rain in a final campaign trip among his "neighbors" in towns near Hyde Park.

CALIFORNIA VINTAGES READY FOR THIRSTY

San Francisco, Nov. 16 (AP).—Ten million gallons of bonded California wine, long impounded behind prohibition's flood gates, and another 10,000,000 gallons in the making, will be at hand to slake America's thirst if and when its sale is legalized.

From champaign to hock, all the vintage types that tickled the taste of bon vivants in the so-called "good old days" and then went into oblivion when the "drouth" came, are available.

And they are even better off for their long imprisonment, say the vinters, because of the traditional improvement in the "bouquet" of wine with age.

For weeks the wine presses have been running at boom time speed, crushing surplus grapes of the 1932 crop.

This awakening of a long dormant industry was described today by Edmund A. Rossi, wine maker and vice president of the Grape Growers League of California as due to two factors: First, a glut in the eastern markets which prevented the sale of fresh grapes, and, second, the increasing conviction among growers and vinters a change in prohibition is imminent.

SHIPPERS AND DEALERS PROTEST WATERWAY

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP).—Buffalo shippers and grain dealers appeared before a senate foreign relations subcommittee today in opposition to the St. Lawrence waterway treaty with the argument that the proposed outlet from the Great Lakes to the sea would result in no material saving in the cost of transporting wheat.

Several spokesmen for Buffalo interests, including a representative of that city's Chamber of Commerce, joined in urging the committee to reject the treaty which was signed with Canada last July.

They contended existing facilities on the Great Lakes are adequate for handling the grain trade and that construction of the waterway would be an expensive project of doubtful value.

Nesbit Grammer, president of the Eastern Grain Elevator Corporation and several steamship lines, said promoters of the St. Lawrence project have "misrepresented the possible saving in freight costs to the western states."

Charged With Extortion

Baltimore, Nov. 16 (AP).—James K. Cullen, chief assistant United States district attorney here, prepared today for the return to Baltimore of Wayland R. Kerns, former judge advocate general of the Bonus Expeditionary Force, to answer charges of extortion and sending a threatening and obscene letter through the mail. Kerns, arrested in the Richmond, Va., post office yesterday, was held in the Richmond jail in default of $1,000 bail pending a removal hearing. A second letter was in the possession of United States District Attorney Simon E. Sobeloff here.

New Kind of Hunting Racket

Watertown, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—The deer hunting season which ended at dusk last night disclosed to game protectors a new kind of hunting racket. Wardens found that a number of northern New York hunters shot deer with undersized horns, a serious offense in the woodlands. To cover up their illegal act, they promptly broke off the horns, and reported that the horns were of legal size but broke as the deer fell.

President Returns To National Capital

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP).—President Hoover returned to the national capital at 8:30 a. m. today to be given an echoing reception at the station by members of his official family and other groups.

It was the first time the President had been in Washington since the election. He planned to renew immediately intensive studies of the complicated debt problem.

With Mrs. Hoover, the chief executive stepped to the rear platform of his train to find himself surrounded by most of the cabinet, Vice President Curtis and Mrs. Dolly Gann, as well as nearly a score of other officials and a delegation of other well wishers, too.

Cheers and hand clapping broke out at the sight of the President coming home in political defeat.

An impromptu receiving line was made by a burly policeman, who opened up a lane through the crowd. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover shook hands along its length.

Another crowd waited in the big concourse of the Union Station. The official party made its way to the presidential waiting room of the station to a chorus of resounding applause.

As soon as the reception was over, the President headed toward the White House to plunge once more into the official duties of the closing days of his administration.

Snow, Rain, Sleet In Sections Of Rockies

(By The Associated Press.)

Concentrating its attack in the Missouri River Valley area, winter spread sub freezing temperatures, snow, rain and sleet over the vast area between the Rockies and the Appalachians today.

Normal weather conditions prevailed on the Pacific coast south of Oregon, the Rockies, areas adjacent to the Gulf of Mexico and in the New England and Middle Atlantic states.

At least eight deaths were ascribed to the unexpected bitter weather, four each in Missouri and Illinois. Five persons succumbed in train-motor car collisins, two in auto accidents and one drowned when a boat was upset by heavy waves. Snow blanketed virtually all of Missouri and Illinois, reaching near blizzard proportions in some sections of the latter state and reaching a depth of nearly a foot in northern Missouri.

Pittsburg, Kas., reported a minimum of seven degrees above zero. Montana was warmer after sub-zero temperatures. Texas reported the coldest weather of the season.

In southwest Missouri agriculturists said the "freeze would be worth a fortune" to farmers and fruit growers. They explained the sudden temperature drop would kill insect pests infesting orchards and fields.

Mrs. Clark and Her Daughter Injured

Mrs. Matthew Clark of Newton Hook was painfully injured in an automobile accident near the government airport in Columbiaville on Saturday last, when her roadster collided with a truck, driven by George Bishop of Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Clark suffered several fractured ribs and lacerations and bruises. Miss Genevieve Clark, aged 17 years, suffered an injury to her chest. A woman who gave her name as Mrs. Zeeh was painfully cut and bruised.

Mrs. Clark is the daughter of the late George P. Zeeh, who conducted the old Washington Hall on Abeel street, where the Forst Packing Company now stands. Her husband, Matthew Clark, is a former Kingston athlete, who for many years played on Kingston baseball and basketball teams.

Masons to Discuss Masonic Temple

There will be a special meeting of all Masons who are interested in the Masonic Temple at the Masonic Club rooms, 635 Broadway, on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

The two local lodges, Kingston Lodge, No. 10, and Rondout Lodge, No. 343, recently got together and purchased the former Gray residence on Albany avenue, adjoining the Governor Clinton Hotel, and plan to use the property for Masonic purposes.

The meeting Thursday evening is for the purpose of discussing various phases of the question, and all Master Masons of the two lodges are urged to attend the meeting.

FORMATION OF CONSORTIUM TO REHABILITATE EUROPE

Paris, Nov. 16 (AP).—The formation of a tripartite economic consortium among France, Germany and Great Britain, designed to rehabilitate Europe, was announced today by Raymond Patenotre, the American born under-secretary for national economy.

The first project will be the offering of a 17,000,000,000 franc loan for the electrification of railways in Poland, Rumania, Irak and Portugal. (This sum is equivalent currently to $680,000,000.)

Supervisors Held 1st Session Tuesday

The annual session of the board of supervisors commenced Tuesday evening and from now until the county legislators have completed their business there will be business sessions practically every evening. The annual session usually starts the week after general election when the board is called together to sit first as a board of county canvassers and then to take up the county business. This year election was late and the board has begun its sessions about a week later than last year. Clerk DeWitt stated from now on the board will have to "dig gravel" to make up the lost week and complete its business by the end of the year.

There were 31 supervisors present when the board was called to order by Chairman Roscoe V. Elsworth of Esopus. A short session had previously been held with the board sitting as a county board of canvassers. An account of the action taken at that meeting will be found elsewhere.

The business session was short the following resolutions being offered and adopted after which the board on motion of Supervisor Markle adjourned until this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Supervisor Voss offered the following: Resolved, that warrants be issued to the supervisors of the several towns for the amount of mortgage tax in the hands of the county treasurer applicable to the general fund and to the treasurer or other fiscal officers of the several incorporated villages and the City of Kingston for the amounts apportioned to said villages and city, in pursuance of Chapter 60 of the Consolidated Laws, as amended by Chapter 399, Laws of 1914, and moved its adoption.

Adopted.

Supervisor Keator offered the following: Resolved, that the collectors of the several towns of the county of Ulster be authorized and required to accept the warrants issued by the town auditors or town boards of the several towns for the current year, and countersigned by the supervisor, in payment of taxes levied on property in the several and respective towns for the current year, and moved its adoption.

Adopted.

Supervisor E. Rowe offered the following: Resolved, that for all bills or claims against the county, which may be duly audited and allowed by this board at this annual session, there shall be issued warrants on the county treasurer payable on the first day of March next, to be signed by the chairman and clerk of the board; and the county treasurer is hereby directed to pay the same on presentation, properly endorsed, after such time, and moved its adoption.

Adopted.

Supervisor Lyons offered the following: Resolved, that the several amounts of unpaid school taxes appearing upon the returns made by school district collectors, duly certified by the trustees of such districts, which will be laid by the county treasurer before the Board of Supervisors, shall be levied, together with seven per cent of the amount, in addition thereto upon the lands upon which the same were imposed, and if upon the lands of any incorporated company, then upon such company, pursuant to the provisions of Section 408 of Chapter 16 of the Consolidated Laws, being the Educational Law.

Over under the rule.

Supervisor Wells offered the following: Resolved, that the several abstracts of Town Accounts, audited and allowed by the respective auditing boards of the several towns be received and placed on file, and that the several amounts therein stated as necessary to pay town accounts audited, be levied and assessed on the several and respective towns.

Over under the rule.

Taxpayers Offer Seven Amendments To Charter

The Seven Submitted to Common Council Tuesday in Form of Local Laws—Provide for Two Tax Collection Periods, Appointment of Board of Assessors—Reduction in Mayor's Salary and Other Changes.

The Kingston Taxpayers' Association through its attorney, former Mayor Palmer Canfield, submitted proposed changes to the city charter in the form of seven proposed local laws which would briefly:

Local Law No. 1—Reduce salary of mayor from $5,000 to $2,500.

Local Law No. 2—Require monthly statement be submitted by public welfare board to common council.

Local Law No. 3—Require similar procedure by the board of public works.

Local Law No. 4—Covered letting of contract by public bidding.

Local Law No. 5—Establish a board of three assessors, the chairman to be paid a salary of $2,000 and the other two members $1,500 each annually.

Local Law No. 6—This covered the appointive officers of the city including a city comptroller and the office of contract and supply.

Local Law No. 7—Provide for payment of city taxes in two installments; March and September.

Canfield Given Floor

The meeting Tuesday evening had been called primarily at the request of the Taxpayers' Association, but as it was an adjourned meeting the common council transacted considerable other business before it adjourned at 11:30 o'clock.

On motion of Alderman Haines the privilege of the floor was extended to former Mayor Canfield after the city clerk had read the seven local laws filed with the council by the Taxpayers' Association.

Mr. Canfield said that he did not believe any great objection would be raised over the proposed amendments to the city charter. The one change that might be debatable was that regarding the reduction of the mayor's salary. The association he represented, however, felt that owing to present financial conditions throughout the country that the salary should be reduced. Mr. Canfield filed with the council a list of the salaries paid the mayors of the other cities in New York state.

Mr. Canfield said that Local Laws 2 and 3, provided for monthly reports to the council from the welfare board and the public works board. These two boards always had a flexible budget, and by filing monthly reports the council would have greater supervision over the expenditures of the two boards.

Local Law No. 4, he said, applied to all work involving more than an expenditure of $250, should be advertised for sealed bids and contract awarded at a public letting.

Board of Assessors.

Mr. Canfield said that local Law No. 5 provided for the appointment of a board of three assessors, the chairman to receive a salary of $2,000 a year and the other two members $1,500 each. At present the city has only one assessor who, in Mr. Canfield's opinion was a very good man and that the Taxpayers' Association finds no fault with him, but believes that it is impossible for any one man to be expected to properly assess some 6,000 properties in the city. The association favored the appointment by the mayor of a builder, a real estate man and a business man as members of the proposed board.

Mr. Canfield said that Local Law No. 6 covered the appointive officers of the city, including a city comptroller and the office of contract and supply, which would be necessary if Local Law No. 4 was adopted.

In Two Installments.

The seventh and last amendment known as Local Law No. 7, provided for the payment of city taxes in two installments in March and September. It required all boards and departments, including the education board to file with the mayor by January 15 of each year the amount needed to carry on the work of the board and departments for the year, instead of filing on December 15, as at present.

The entire tax, including state, county, city and education, would be lumped together and divided in two equal portions, and the taxpayers could either pay the full amount in March and receive a discount or he could pay in two installments and also receive a discount.

Mr. Canfield said that the matter of paying taxes in two installments was nothing new or novel and that many cities had adopted it and had been using the plan for some years. Some cities made tax payments in four installments. He quoted from a list of cities in New York state which were paying taxes in two or more installments.

County Tax Lower.

In reply to questions by the aldermen as to whether it would be possible to levy the city tax in two installments on account of the county tax coming due early in the year, Mr. Canfield replied he had taken the matter up with the chairman of the board and also the clerk. He found that this year the county tax would be much lower than last year and would deduct at least $7 from the city tax rate. He said that it would be possible to pay the county

Typhoon Dead Known to Be 58

Tokyo, Nov. 16 (AP)—Crippled communication lines brought in reports today that Monday's typhoon dead were known to number 58, and that 250 to 300 more were missing and feared lost at sea.

The typhoon roared across six prefectures of central Japan, destroying 5,600 houses, damaging 10,000 more and playing havoc with coastal shipping.

Fifty-eight sailors were listed as missing in the foundering of two freighters, the Genchu Maru and Unkai Maru. The Genchu went down off Izu peninsula. Seven were rescued and 36 were missing. The Unkai went aground on Oshima Island, and nine of the 31 aboard were saved.

Newspaper reports showed 40 fishing boats with crews totalling at least 250 men had not returned to their home ports after the storm.

At Least 16 Dead in Hunting Accidents

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP).—At least sixteen persons died in hunting accidents in the three weeks deer hunting season which ended last night in New York state.

The sixteen deaths, twelve of them from gunshot wounds, were reported to the Conservation Department. One death was from heart failure, which game protectors thought might have been brought in by a combination of excitement and strenuous exercise in the fields, and two others were drownings.

In the four weeks last season there were 20 deaths.

Numerous hunting accidents were reported. Whereas deer guns took the greatest toll of life, shotguns were responsible for many of the less serious injuries, the department was informed.

The state is waiting to tabulate reports on the number of deer killed. Ordinarily one deer is killed for every ten deer hunters licensed. Last year 70,000 deer licenses were granted, and 7,000 deer were killed.

The number of licenses issued this season will not be known until county clerks have sent in their reports.

Intellect

I am quite sure, that it is a most solemn duty to cultivate our understandings to the uttermost, for I have seen the evil moral consequences of fanaticism, to a greater degree than I ever expected to see them realized; and I am satisfied that a neglected intellect is far oftener the cause of mischief to man, than a perverted or overvalued one. Men retain their natural quickness or cleverness, while their reason and judgment are allowed to go to ruin, and thus do they work their minds and gain influence, and are pleased at gaining it; but it is the undisciplined mind which they are exercising, instead of one wisely disciplined.—Edwin Arnold.

JUNIOR WALTHER LEAGUE PRESENTS MYSTERY DRAMA

The Junior Walther League Society of the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Livingston street, will present a three-act mystery drama entitled "The Mystery of the Third Gable". The play will be held this evening in the Church Hall beginning at 8 o'clock. No admission will be charged but a free-will offering will be lifted. Music for the play will be furnished by the Church Orchestra under the direction of Gus Koch. A synopsis of the play follows:

Judge Sherwood, the terror of bootleggers, rents an old house near the coast and takes his family there for a rest. Weird noises startle the newcomers, ghostly figures appear and the ace of clubs constantly confronts them in unexpected places. The housekeeper, who is none too cordial, explains that the house is said to be haunted and frightens them by reading cards and predicting disaster for them in the ace of clubs. The mystery deepens with the arrival of two secretaries for the judge—the real and the other pretender—and with the appearance of a strange man in a dazed condition, and it rises to a starry climax with the disappearance of the judge. Thereafter thrills crowd fast upon one another. The following is the cast of characters:

|---|---|
| Roy Lane | Karl Koen |
| Mrs. Lane | Florence Buttler |
| Sally Sherwood | Katherine Fassbender |
| Tom Sherwood | Floyd Nackarace |
| Judge Sherwood | Raymond Saehloff |

Baby Welfare Work Of Junior League

The monthly meeting of the Baby Welfare Committee of the Kingston Junior League was held at the home of Mrs. Robert R. Rodie on Monday, November 4. The report of the work at their Meadow street clinic for the month of October was submitted by Miss Ann C. Cassidy, nurse in charge. This report showed an increase to the amazing total of 302 cases handled. In addition to the above Miss Cassidy made 217 home visits. During the month two infant and pre-school clinics were held by Dr. H. L. Bibby and two pre-natal clinics were held by Dr. J. B. Krom. Besides this infant welfare work the Meadow street clinic will again hold its "Little Mothers' Club" on alternate Wednesdays at 3:30 p. m. This will be for girls between the ages of 12 and 14 years, to teach them the care of children.

The group known as the "Mothers Club" will have a new feature in addition to the subjects taught last year. Mrs. Barnard Joy, a member of the Junior League, has completed a course at Cornell University in Home Economics. She will instruct these mothers in the latest methods of purchasing and preparing well balanced yet economical meals.

Owing to the increase of the number of cases handled, it has been thought advisable to institute a system of appointment cards so as to avoid delays and overcrowding. This will not only aid the mothers but will increase the efficiency of the clinic.

This very important and necessary welfare work has been carried on by the Junior League for the past 13 years. This clinic has been made possible through the generous support of the citizens of Kingston. In the past it has been the custom of the Junior League to hold an annual ball the entire proceeds of which went for the support and maintenance of the Meadow street clinic. This year in order to provide a holiday novelty it has been decided to present a theatrical innovation, at the Broadway Theatre, Wednesday, December 21. This production is by local talent, for local people, in support of a local charity.

Right off the bat

You can see right off the bat that this is the common-sense way to take a laxative. Because it's a chewing gum, Feen-a-mint is as pleasant a medicine as you could want. But that's not all. The chewing insures even distribution throughout the system. That's essential for thorough yet gentle action. No pills—no griping. Just a pleasant, harmless, non-habit-forming laxative you can trust for yourself or your children. At all druggists.

EASY DRIVING

Driving a car is going to be absurdly easy, except for external perils. "One of these days," writes an automobile editor, "the gear shift lever will be as obsolete a part of the automobile as the whip socket that decorated the earliest gasoline buggies. And indications are that the day is not far ahead."

For years it has been recognized that the most clumsy device remaining in automobile mechanism was the gear-shift arrangement, or rather the combination of clutch and selective gear-shift, which required one hand and two feet to operate, was difficult to execute, and wasted time, not to mention the wear on clutch linings and the danger of stripping the gears. Now some of the late cars are equipped with the so-called "automatic clutch," which is really a gear-shift mechanism operated somewhat as usual, except that it permits the changing gears to mesh easily and smoothly and does away with the use of the clutch pedal.

It is but a step from such an arrangement to a really automatic control of speed by which the driver merely feeds the fuel and the car selects its own gear for speed. The car in that case would probably use better judgment than drivers often do, saving gas and running more smoothly, and the driver could attend better to traffic problems. That is, if he could keep from going to sleep. Such devices, it is said, are already available. Future drivers won't have to know much.

BRIDGES.

As civilization develops, it builds roads and bridges. Especially bridges; for it is easier to move about without roads than without river crossings. The Romans were the great builders of transportation facilities in antiquity. Then the English. Now we Americans have taken our turn. In a generation we have covered the land with good roads, and now we are engaged in building great bridges on a scale unprecedented in any country or age. Any one of a dozen bridges built in this country in the last ten years would have been a wonder of the world a generation ago. And greater viaducts are planned, most notable of them all the one to span the Golden Gate at San Francisco.

A preacher observes: "A bridge is built with truth, in obedience to physical laws. From the blueprints to the concrete mixer, there must be honesty. Liars cannot build good bridges." A philosophic writer on business topics looks ahead a little. "The final test of today's physical civilization," he says, "will be in the ability of our governments to maintain such structures as bridges. If our civilization ever went the way of Rome, the culverts would stop up first, converting the farming country to marsh, and next the bridges would rust and fall in." The concrete would not rust, but it would crack.

FARM RELIEF.

A New York columnist's "own plan" for farm relief is good for a laugh plus some sober reflection. He says: "I understand that farmers get up at 4 or 5 a. m. This, obviously, is so they can raise more wheat and swamp the market. I would have the farmer stay in bed until noon. Seriously, isn't it a cock-eyed civilization that is worst off when there is plenty?"

It is rather ridiculous that, with all our advantages, resources and ability, human consumers and producers—who are in the last analysis the same people—cannot get together to their mutual good. Many of the remedies seriously suggested have been less sensible than this humorous plan.

Perhaps if farmers went back to raising just enough wheat and other products for their own families, plus just enough more to exchange with the cobbler and the keeper of the general store for shoes and supplies, the problem would be solved. It seems a laborious method. We thought we had advanced beyond the crude barter stage of civilization. The trouble has been that in getting beyond it we forgot that consumption is as important as production, and that successful trade is two-sided.

"A missionary stationed in northern Labrador reports that never in 30 years of missionary work has he seen such good times in that frozen peninsula. There has been a good season, and every family is well supplied with food for the sub-Arctic winter. As a headliner suggests, there's a fish in every pot and a couple of kayaks in every igloo. Evidently the North Pole has turned the corner. So we may have a new variation of the old advice. Go north, young man, and grow up with the icebergs.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY

James W. Barton, M. D.

PHYSICIANS NECESSARY

You may have an attack of appendicitis, but as it is only a "severe pain in the abdomen", you decide to wait a little while before calling in a physician. It is painful for a couple of days; you do nothing to relieve the pain, but do not eat anything as you do not feel hungry. The pain passes away and you gradually feel better and begin to eat again.

How did you get better without an operation?

Simply because you likely had the catarrhal form of appendicitis, no pus whatever, just as you can have a catarrhal condition of the nose and throat that is annoying but does not endanger life.

Similarly you may have what you call a "bad cold". You feel weak enough to go to bed and find that you just don't feel like getting up for a number of days. Your "cold" gets worse, you find that you are coughing up a considerable amount of mucous which finally becomes rust colored. You feel a little hot or flushed at times. You have had a real attack of pneumonia, and have recovered without the services of a doctor.

It is even possible for you to have an attack of typhoid fever and recover without knowing it was typhoid, and without having the services of a doctor.

How is it possible for an individual to have any of these three serious ailments and recover without the services of a physician?

Simply because Nature does all in her power for you when an ailment attacks you. The heart beats more strongly, the lungs breathe more deeply, the white corpuscles (the disease fighters) in the body increase in number to fight off the harmful organisms; every organ in the body actually does two or three times more work than when you are well.

Why then do we need a physician?

Because his years of study of the human body in health and disease enables him to know just how much the body can do for itself, and when he must step in and "regulate" the body processes, when Nature's rate of progress is so slow that death might ensue if he did not hasten them. He can "support" the heart, reduce dangerous temperature, relieve congested lungs or kidneys, prevent fatal mistakes that would be made by the patient or family, and give the patient that feeling of safety that is perhaps the biggest factor in bringing him back to health.

Mrs. and Mrs. Harley Williams of Pataukunk are receiving congratulations over the birth of a daughter recently. Mrs. Williams will be remembered as the former Carrie Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gray.

Friends and neighbors regret that Mr. and Mrs. Albert Coddington have been confined to their beds. All hope that they will recover rapidly.

A large representation from here attended the entertainment in the Reformed Church in Cherrytown. Much credit is given the local talent for the very efficient way in which they presented their entertainment.

Mrs. Herman Knickle of New Jersey has returned to her home there, after spending some time with her brother and sister, Myron and Mary Terwilliger.

There are busy times for the game protectors and troopers assigned the job of maintaining the majesty of the law. Day and night these guardians continue their relentless vigil and it behooves all hunters to play the game fairly and thus by so doing cooperate to the end, that the reputation of the Catskill Mountains as a happy hunting ground may be maintained not only for the present but for the coming generations.

Friends and neighbors regret that Mr. and Mrs. James Herring are both confined to their beds. All hope that they will show improvement soon.

The ladies of the Lothhardt M. E. Church are making plans for a Thanksgiving supper, details of which will be announced later.

Mrs. Charles Gray and sister, Mrs. Samuel Ednar, of New York city and Mrs. Ralph Hornbeck were Sunday callers on the the latter's mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Gorsline.

Mrs. Charles Gray of this place was hostess to a miscellaneous shower tendered her niece, Miss Thela Quick, of Rochester Center, in honor of her approaching marriage to Edgar Wilklow of Whitfield. Miss Quick received a number of very pretty and useful gifts.

A PATH TO PARADISE

by Conyngham DAWSON

SYNOPSIS: Snatched from a belated honeymoon in France by the news that his employer has failed, Clive and his giddy young wife hurry back to New York. Clive's mind is haunted by the image of Santa's first husband Dicky and the "reformation" Santa believes she has wrought in him. And at once they land, Santa engineers a return to the apartment her money supports, although she knows Clive detests it.

Chapter 27

THE CATASTROPHE

SHE'D been right, it had been fun to return to the old apartment and make a bed late at night, laughing like a pair of children. It was even more fun to wake in the morning and quarrel over who should cook the breakfast—then to discover that there was nothing in the ice-box.

"Let's go cuckoo," she suggested.

So they dressed and sallied forth into sun-washed streets, which were almost empty.

"Why, of course! It's Sunday." Santa solved the riddle of their emptiness.

They strolled in the Park and watched the riders. Visited the Metropolitan Museum. Hired a boat on the ornamental lake. Went to a moving picture in the evening. On the walk home, Santa jerked his arm.

"How much has it cost?"

"Less than five dollars. Why?"

"We never needed to have gone abroad to be happy, Clive. We can be happy anywhere."

Next morning, being Monday, in a mood of forced cheerfulness he set off to report to Mr. Cleasby. Santa was his mascot. She had persuaded him, contrary to reason, that because she was his wife no evil could befall him.

At parting he had asked, "What's your program?"

"I'll invent one," she had replied vaguely.

When he admitted himself to the apartment that evening, how she had occupied herself was obvious. Rugs had been laid, photograph-frames, lamps and bric-a-brac were in their accustomed places. In the narrow hall he paused. The smell of cooking. Voices. She had engaged a maid. Her persistency was daunting.

"You're late, darling," Santa welcomed him. "Barely time to change."

In the bedroom he found further proofs of her devotion. Her efficiency astounded him. His clothes had been spread out with the expertness of a valet: shoes in the right place; socks beside them; shirt studded; tub filled and scented with bath salts. Everything orderly; nothing forgotten.

"The return of the wage-earner!" He frowned at himself in the mirror.

Her pretence that he was master of the establishment was maddening. This was her first step toward making the apartment again a habit. In each and all of these attentions he discerned strategy. She'd stolen a march on him. By subtle flatteries she was attempting to purchase his compliance. Having pledged herself to consult him, she'd barged ahead as though he didn't figure in the picture.

A doubt crossed his mind. Was he being fair? Possibly this was her mistaken idea of sheltering him.

The table was beautifully set. As he pushed in her chair, she smiled up at him bewitchingly.

"I've ordered everything you like."

She was expecting him to remark on the transformation she had wrought.

"Everything I like! For instance?"

"Caviare, mushroom soup, squab, endive salad, hot-house grapes."

"Been blowing yourself. And orchids, by gosh!"

"After perching in hotels, being my own housekeeper went to my head."

While the strange maid hovered, conversation had to be general. With the postponement of their problems a polite estrangement grew between them. They laughed and chatted like chance acquaintances.

When coffee had been served and they were alone, there was a pause.

"How did things go?" she enquired.

"Can't talk here."

In the drawing room, snug with shaded lamps and spacious with oblongs of star-filled sky, having arranged herself decoratively on the couch, she awaited him.

"Have a cigarette?" he approached her.

"Thanks, old man. Light it for me. Didn't things go well?"

"Rottenly. The firm's bust. I didn't see Cleasby. He's enjoying a nervous breakdown. The office is being managed by a receiver."

"Then how did you spend the day?"

"Wandering. I was ashamed—"

She blew a puff of smoke.

"Darling, you are an ass."

"You've said it." He started pacing. "I was ashamed to return to this home which you've chosen for me. What right have I to dine on caviare?" He swung around. "What right have I to sit at a table festive with orchids?"

"But my dear," she paled at his exasperation, "you're my husband. You have every right."

"That doesn't give me the right. My furthest thought when I married was that I would become a gigolo."

"No one ever accused you——"

"Someone will. You've forced luxuries on me that make me ridiculous. Now that I'm jobless, unless I live on you, we must economize. The extravagance of this apartment complicates my position horribly."

"In a way it does," she nodded.

"Then, in heaven's name," he burst out, "why did you settle in the moment my back was turned?"

She smiled conciliatingly.

"But isn't that selfish, darling?" Her soothing voice pursued him. "Your way at present would mean cheap lodgings. We'd both hate them. Meanwhile, unless we could sub-let this apartment, it would stand empty.

"And then there's my side. You married me when I was damaged goods. If I'd shown false pride and refused to allow you—— Won't you understand my motives? This is perhaps the only chance I'll ever have to repay you."

The old doubt assailed him with regard to his fairness. He glanced up. She looked anything but dominant. Slim legs curled under her, she asked a question.

"Have I ever failed you?"

Evasion would have been easier. He hesitated.

With one of those shameless reversals of which pretty women are capable, she uttered a tinkling, merry laugh which broke the tension.

"Of course I have. I do things on the impulse. When you left this morning, I longed to restore your sense of security." She waved her hands. "I slaved all day to prepare this. Stupid of me."

Resentment faded.

"Santa dear, I'd like to; I can't let you off. You've struck a gait that's beyond me."

She crossed the room and sank against his knees.

"Listen, Clive, I know what's worrying you. Because Dicky sponged on me, you're afraid to borrow. You and Dicky aren't on the same planet. And there's something else; you're angry with the world because of your set-back. You feel you have to blame somebody. I'm handiest."

"I can scarcely blame you for Cleasby's failure."

"It's what you're doing." She caressed him. "Once you thought I showed a lack of faith when you assured me that we'd never quarrel. Married couples can't help quarrelling. They're so inseparable that—this sounds awful—they antagonize each other. Your antagonism has fastened on this apartment. You don't really detest it. What you detest is having inherited me."

"You may be right."

She pressed more heavily against him.

"Then don't punish me for coming to you second-hand."

He stroked her wavy hair. If he surrendered, his protest would go for naught.

"Neither of us wants to be selfish. Neither of us wants to be hard on the other. As for punishing you, the thought never entered my head. Your divorce has nothing to do with my objections to living at the rate of twenty thousand a year when my earnings are temporarily wiped out."

"My divorce has everything to do with it." Her eyes became bright with tears. "In your mind, though, you're unconscious of it, this apartment symbolizes Dicky. There's no reason why it should. It was my gift to you."

"But you agreed with me, Santa, when we were abroad."

"I still agree with you," she dumbfounded him.

"Then what's the argument?"

She sat back on her heels.

"There isn't any. The moment you've found a home to substitute for this one, I'll give up mine. But you haven't found a home and you're not in a position to find one. So why not make the best of the one we've got. You see I'm talking commonsense—not poetry."

Exposing himself to the possibility of being bitten by deadly rattlesnakes is an everyday occurrence for W. O. Read, who operates a rattlesnake farm in Fresno, Cal., to obtain the deadly poison for use in snake bite antitoxin. Mr. Read has been struck so many times by rattlers that he is immune to their poison.

His record was 288 times when he and his reptiles were being filmed for Strange As It Seems movie No. 22—then while the cameras were trained on him another snake sank its fangs into his flesh. For the ordinary person this would mean probable death—but to Read it is nothing more serious than a pin prick.

Mr. Read's farm is stocked with 800 of the deadly snakes, trained by him to strike at chamois stretched over containers. The poison is in this way "milked" from the snakes' glands, and collected in containers. The venom crystalizes and it requires 2,000 milkings to make one ounce in crystal form.

• • •

The United States Patent office issued letters of patent No. 587,358 for an anti-snoring gag to be worn by people who disturb others by nocturnal trumpeting. The device, simplicity in itself, consists of a bit-like wooden stick with holes cut in it. The bit is held in the wearer's mouth by an elastic band which passes about the head.

The theory is, according to the application for patent, that snoring is caused by too much air coming in the mouth. The gag is designed to prevent this.

"Say! even if you never hit 50 you need an oil that can do 100!"

"WHAT!" you may say, "Me—a 30-mile-an-hour driver—need Gulf Supreme, that 100-mile-an-hour oil?"

Yes! Think a minute and you'll see why . . .

Gulf Supreme can take super-punishment! That is not just a claim. In two of the stiffest tests an oil could get, Gulf Supreme proved itself a "fighting oil" . . .

First, by successfully lubricating a motor running at nearly twice the heat of a normal speeding engine for 14 solid hours!

Second, by out-performing special racing oils in an Official AAA test on the Indianapolis Speedway. On a sizzling day last August, it lubricated a roaring Duesenberg racer in a one-hour, non-stop run — at an average speed greater than 100-miles-an-hour! Nearly two miles a minute on the straight-a-ways!

Drive into any Gulf station. Drain worn oil. Re-fill with Gulf Supreme. Watch it cut costs. Minimize repairs. And last longer! Use the winter grade in severe weather.

WARNING!
. . . OIL that isn't good at high speeds, isn't good enough at ANY speed!

Meet THE NEW PRESIDENT!

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth of six articles on President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, revealing little incidents in his every-day life, his traits of character, philosophies and his interests.)

By WALTER T. BROWN

(Associated Press Staff Writer Who Accompanied Roosevelt On His Campaign)

Albany, N. Y. (AP)—Back in his Harvard College days Franklin D. Roosevelt, now President-Elect of the United States, was editor of "The Crimson".

Mr. Roosevelt still likes to recall those days, and he frequently reminds newspapermen that he is of their craft because of that apprenticeship.

The President-Elect has a "nose for news," and he occasionally suggests a topic for a news story. He always has been at ease with reporters, and at many of his press conferences during his campaign he revealed details of maneuvers, first saying: "This is off the record." That meant "not to be published." He was particularly frank in giving out "background" or explanatory material.

The "lid is on" means that he will not give out any news during a certain period, a week-end at Hyde Park; an afternoon in New York city or an evening with friends on Long Island.

The President-Elect intends after his career of public service to write "a few books." His experiences as assistant secretary of the navy during the World War will be one. He hopes also to write comprehensively of the philosophy of government, a subject which furnished the theme for two small books by him.

HE MEETS THE PRESS
HE WAS EDITOR OF HIS COLLEGE PAPER

"Earmarked" Gold

Gold is earmarked in this country for the account of foreigners only when it belongs to them. Owners of gold do not like to have it shipped on account of the danger of loss at sea and the high insurance rates. Anticipating that they may need it at some future time to discharge obligations here, they order it earmarked instead of delivered to them. This means no one can touch it except on their order.

Y. M. Membership Drive Is Opened

The first Y. M. C. A. membership drive was officially opened last evening by General Chairman P. H. Carey, with nearly the entire organization present. A fine spirit was present among the men, and it looked that the 150 new members sought for would be secured before the closing next Monday night. Dinner report meetings will be held on Thursday, Friday and Monday evenings promptly at 6:30. All workers are urged to be present whether or not they have reports. The Triangle Club met with the campaign organization and cooperated heartily with the effort of the campaigners. Chairman Carey thanked the Triangle Club for giving way its usual meeting night in order that the campaign might open, and Fred Van Deusen, president of the club, responded, asking that all Triangle men who had not already agreed to work on the drive to sign up before they left that night.

Neland H. Fuller opened the meeting with prayer, after the group had sung "America."

After supper, prepared and served by the ladies of the Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., Chairman Carey introduced the speaker of the evening, Clarence S. Rowland, president of the local association, who told of the interesting work being carried on in the local association, and the tremendous importance the present drive is to the program for the coming year. He admonished the workers to strive hard to secure both men and boy enrollments.

Neland H. Fuller reported that the boys' division had already begun their campaign, and so far had had a fair amount of success. He, too, was most encouraged by the showing so far made by the boys and felt assured that the drive as a whole would be a success.

Instructions were given, and the prospects lists passed out from which the workers secured their first two days' work. The following is the organization for the present drive:

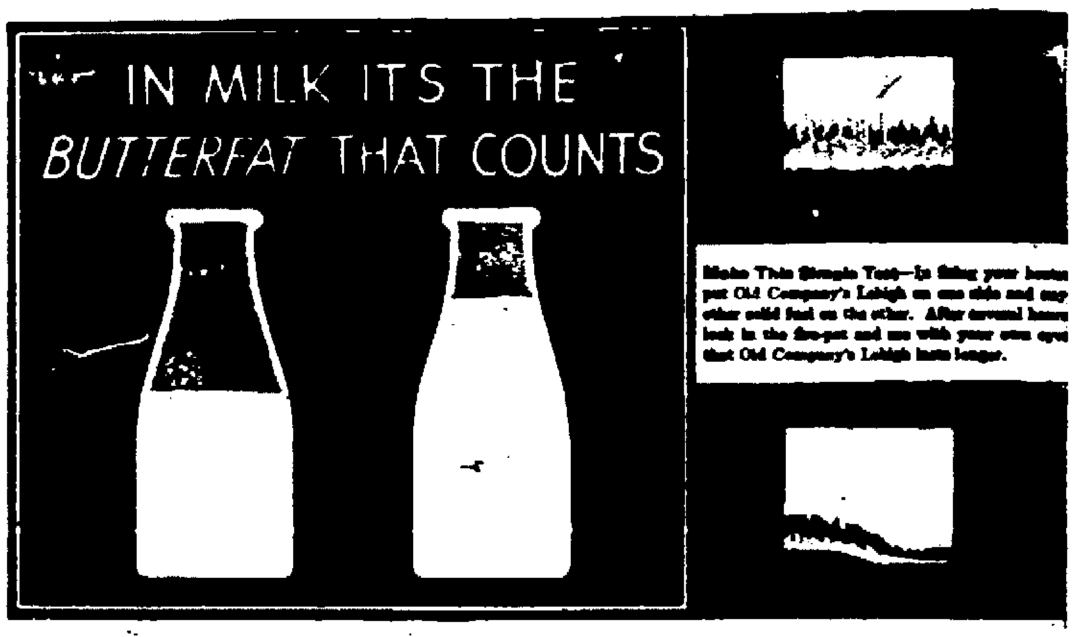
How Much Does HEAT COST?



IN MILK ITS THE BUTTERFAT THAT COUNTS

Make This Simple Test—In filling your heater put Old Company's Lehigh on one side and any other solid fuel on the other. After several hours look in the fire-pot and see with your own eyes that Old Company's Lehigh lasts longer.

YOU know what you pay for milk. Cost is not the only factor . . . it's the purity and butter-fat that give health. Coal, too, is a great aid in building and safeguarding health. Old Company's Lehigh burns evenly, lasts long with minimum attention, and gives even, healthful heat.

We can tell you that Old Company's Lehigh Hard Coal is more economical, too! But we want you to prove it by making the simple, money-saving O. C. L. Comparison Test described above.

Order a ton of Old Company's Lehigh now. Make the test tomorrow. Then let us fill your bin.

Don't Quit

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will;
When the road you're trudging seems all uphill;
When the funds are low and the debts are high,
And you want to smile—but you have to sigh;
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Rest, if you must, but 'Don't You Quit.

Minister's Daughter — Prayers were offered up for your husband last Sunday, Mrs. Harrison. I hope he is much better.

Mrs. Harrison—Well, I'll say he don't seem none the worse for them.

We can't understand why some papers keep on making news items about wages being cut. . . .Heck, that ain't news.

Rotarian—Short stories seem to be very popular now.

Kiwanian—Yes, everybody tries to tell a story of how short he is.

Do you remember the good old days when the worst we had to worry about was the bobbed-hair bandits?

The teacher was about to give an object lesson:

Teacher—Tommy, why does your father put screens on the windows and doors every spring?

Tommy—Well, Mother keeps at him until he finally gives in.

Never forget that this is a government of the people, by the people, and for the people. . . .At their own expense.

He—They tell me you stutter when you're about to be kissed?

The largest piece of ivory in the world has been found in Alaska, and is on its way to Washington without being elected.

Harriette—When I am your wife, I shall share all your joys and sorrows.

Ferdy—I have no sorrows.

Harriette—No, but when you are married. . . . !

If you pay your debts now you will be helping prosperity. Be the amount ever so small, it will help someone else pay what he owes. It's people holding on to their money that is making times hard now.

Mrs. George Earl, who gave birth to a 19-year-old daughter, is reported as getting along fine. A. J. Dill, of Furley, who also suffered a broken leg in the same accident, is recovering.

It is the hardest thing in the world to be a good thinker without being a self-examiner.

Two Swedes were walking on a railroad track, when a train came along behind them. One of them was lucky enough to jump off the track in time; the other not being so fortunate. The survivor told about it later:

"After I yump," he said, "I run a little way, and then I go back to see 'bout Ole. Putty soon I come cross an arm on the track, an' soon I see one of Ole's legs. Nex' t'ing I see Ole's head. Den I say, 'My Gosh, somet'ing mus 'a' happened to Ole!' "

It is only hearsay, but we have been told that $1,000 bills bear the portrait of Salmon P. Chase.

There are still a lot of people who will drink any amount of given liquor and think it all right.

Dealer—How much?

Boy—Why, enough to reach from the goat to the fence.

WEST SHOKAN.

Mrs. Chase Davis of West Shokan Heights has a large jar of orange lilies which are now in full bloom. Mrs. Davis and her sister, Mrs. Watson Bishop, always have a beautiful display of orange, red, and snow white calla lilies blossoming during the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepard Bell of Main street are receiving congratulations upon the marriage of their granddaughter, Miss Mary Olive Bell of Whiteport, to Kendall Avery, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alton Avery. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John B. Steketee. The witnesses of the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Scoville. The newly wedded couple will reside at 100 O'Neil street, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jones of "Ridge Dell Cottage" entertained on Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whittier of "Tuckaway Farm."

Supervisor and Mrs. Chester A. Lyons, also their eldest daughter, Marie, of Ashokan, were entertained as dinner guests on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Chase Davis. During the course of the evening Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Watson Bishop favored by playing some of their favorite duets of long years ago. Mrs. Bishop and Miss Mariam Davis also rendered several popular selections.

Samuel Cassalina and James Gordon of Brodhead enjoyed a hunting trip through the nearby woods on Sunday afternoon.

Robert Bishop, who is now residing with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. O'Connor, of Hobart, accompanied his brother, Donald, on a week-end stay at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Watson Bishop. Bob recently had the misfortune to sustain a dislocated thumb resulting from a bad fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Kropp, accompanied by Garett Mott of Martense street, Brooklyn, spent the week-end at their summer residence on Main street. Mr. Mott spent most of his time taking up bulbs and preparing everything in general for winter.

There was a fine sociable attendance at the Saturday evening session of Shokan I. O. O. F. Lodge. After the meeting pinochle and euchre were enjoyed. Plans are well under way for the Thanksgiving oyster supper to be held Wednesday evening, November 23. The board of trustees request a large turnout at next Saturday night's meeting, at which time an oil burner will be demonstrated and it is possible that hot dogs and coffee may be in order.

A recent event which has heretofore failed of mention in this column was the new arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gulnac at Ashokan. Needless to say that their many west side friends extend happy congratulations not alone to the proud parents but likewise to Grandma Gulnac, whose former home was the well known Maple Dell Farm.

On November 10, 1881, there occurred the death of one of this community's best known young men, Thompson E. Crispell, 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin H. Crispell, who died a victim of the then raging scourge of typhoid fever. This young man and Philip Dwyer were neighbors and pals together. Mr. Dwyer is frequently heard to relate the happy memories and melodies of their days together.

Armistice Day, chilly and sombre, passed by generally unobserved by residents here. Doubtless few if any actually paused for a moment of silent meditation. How easy it is to forget even such a momentous event in these trying days, and coming on the heels of a great presidential election.

Mrs. Chester A. Lyons and family, of Ashokan, were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin G. Every, of Traver Hollow, on Sunday afternoon. Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Shepard Bell of Main street. Mrs. John Allen and several members of the family from West Hurley vicinity.

On Wednesday the Ladies' Aid weekly quilting frolic will be held in the home of Mrs. Erastus North on the Watson Hollow road, instead of at the church basement as is its usual custom. As both Mr. and Mrs. North are well known for their kindly hospitality it goes without saying that the willing and industrious ladies are booked for a very delightful day's outing.

Mrs. Nettie Jones catered to the members of the Knorpp family of Flatbush, Brooklyn, while sojourning at their summer home on Main street over the week-end.

All learn with keen regret that Mrs. John McRoberts of Detroit, Mich., has suffered a stroke and is in a serious condition. Mr. and Mrs. McRoberts have many warm friends in this neighborhood, and it is the heartfelt wish of everyone that this kindly Christian lady may be restored to health.

Harold Constable has procured a fine beef critter with which to replenish the family larder after bossy puts on her wan frame a bit more of avordupois.

Mr. Clarence E. Schoonmaker,
The Young Men's Christian Association,
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Schoonmaker:

At the meeting of the Kiwanis Club this week, it was moved to heartily endorse your campaign for 150 new members. We are hoping that you will gain not 150 new members but 500 new members, for we are convinced that membership in the Y. M. C. A. is of inestimable benefit to any young man. What splendid recreational, educational and inspirational opportunities you offer at a cost of about a quarter a week. We hope that you will be able to convince many men in our city that they just cannot afford to neglect membership in your association.

With best wishes for the success of your campaign, I remain,

Sincerely,
REV. O. E. BRANDORFF,
President, Kiwanis Club.

Proper Use of Washer

If clothes are left in the household washing machine longer than the directions say they should be, they may come out gray. When a washer is run too long at a time, the soap breaks up the soil into such tiny particles that it is almost impossible to get them out of the garments.

6. Doesn't it bank nicely over night?

Board of Health Met on Tuesday

The Board of Health held a brief meeting at the city hall Tuesday night when a report was given by the committee of physicians working for an accredited laboratory system to Mayor Eugene B. Carey, who presided.

Physicians interested in the laboratory system, who are members of the Board of Health, are Dr. John F. Larkin, Dr. Frederic Holcomb and Dr. Joseph Jacobson. The physicians reported both the Benedictine and Kingston Hospitals as in favor of the accredited system. This would raise the ratings of both hospitals nationally.

Dr. L. E. Sanford reported on the number of cases of sore throat among children, saying it was not due to milk as was first supposed. He said the milk supply had been thoroughly tested, also that the sore throat cases are decreasing.

Reporting on the chickenpox cases in Kingston, Dr. Sanford said Kingston High School had been advised to cancel its football game with Poughkeepsie because of the smallpox epidemic in that city. The high school immediately followed the advice of the health board and cancelled the game.

Dr. H. Clarke, food inspector, spoke on the cut in milk prices and the ill effects of "milk wars." The board went on record as favoring all efforts to keep Kingston's milk supply up to the nutritive standard now maintained regardless of price reductions.

County Dramatic Contests Nov. 18

Ulster county and inter-county dramatic contests this week:

People of Ulster county who enjoy seeing local characters step out into the lime light dramatizing characters in some far off land or depicting a scene that might happen in this country under circumstances so different as to be a side splitter when shown on the stage, will have that opportunity Friday evening. Patroon Grange of Accord, and Plattekill Grange will battle for the honors of entering the inter-county contest. The fray will occur on the Stone Ridge Grange Hall stage, the curtain rising at 8 p. m.

Saturday afternoon at the Red Hook Grange Hall, in Dutchess county, the four counties, Ulster, Delaware, Saratoga and Dutchess, will have a try-out for the honor of entering the state dramatic contest. This inter-county contest will begin at 2 p. m. No doubt many in Ulster county will wish to see the Ulster players in this contest.

The idea of a dramatic contest had its origin in Ulster several years ago. It is believed that plays are a wholesome type of community entertainment and the contest has aroused interest in many counties in wholesome recreation for rural communities. The state contest will be held at Cornell Farm and Home Week.

Mrs. Marjorie King of Accord is directing the play for the Patroon Grange, and Mrs. C. Ira Thompson is directing the Plattekill play. Accord will stage "The Trysting Place." Plattekill has chosen, "Bargains In Cathay." The cast of characters in the Plattekill play is as follows:

Miss Emily Gray, an ambitious salesgirl ........Mrs. Arthur Zimmer
Jerry O'Brien, a delivery boy ..... Edward Jenkins
Miss Doty, the official guardian of the Book Department .......... Mrs. W. J. VanWyen
Thompson Williams, a poet, also of the Men's Wear Department .... Wilmot Denniston
Miss Bliss, a lady with memories .. Mrs. Charles Everett
Mr. Royce, the floor walker ...... Wilson Edmunds
A Gentleman from New York ..... Eugene Stevens

MAUDE ADAMS, FAMOUS ACTRESS, SELLS HER MOUNTAIN HOME

Maude Adams Kiskadden, the famous actress, who is better known as Maude Adams, has sold her beautiful property, "Cadden Hill," at Onteora Park, in the town of Hunter, to Phyllis Robbins of Boston, Mass.

This is one of the show places of the Catskill mountains and for many years was occupied in the summer by Miss Adams, who was very fond of her country residence and she spent a large sum of money beautifying the place and keeping it in order.

Girl Reserves Have Busy Time

The Girl Reserves of the Young Women's Christian Association are having an exceedingly busy fall season and all new club members were formally welcomed into the Girl Reserve Clubs in the annual candle lighting service which was held last Sunday afternoon. This special candle lighting service is one of the outstanding events of the Y each year and this year the girls were particularly fortunate in having a large number of fathers and mothers present for the service and the tea and the social hour which followed. Miss Lillian Herdman and Miss Katherine Millard led the long procession and about 120 girls took part in the ceremony. The service in itself is unique with the club girls all in white, with blue ties and insignia, all reciting the code, purpose and slogan of the Girl Reserves and receiving their light from the white candle of the association spirit. Five clubs were represented as follows: The T. M. T. M., The Busy Bees, The Blue Triangle Club, the Pep and the Ever Ready.

The Girl Reserves of Newburgh were the guests of the high school club on Friday last and had a very special supper and entertainment. The Newburgh clubs were represented by 24 members, who enjoyed very much the hospitality of the Kingston association and who invited the Kingston Girl Reserves to a Song Festival in Newburgh the latter part of the month. The entertainer for the evening was John Hurt of Woodstock, who scored a great success with his chalk talk and sketches.

This week and next the grade school clubs will each enjoy a special club supper, arrangements for which have been made by the club members. Basketball practice is in full swing for both grade and high school girls and all girls are working on handcraft for Christmas gifts.

MARCHERS ON CAPITAL MUST LOOK OUT FOR FOOD

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP).—If the columns planning to march on the capital persist in the face of police warnings, officials here have decided that when and where they eat and sleep is their own lookout.

Another point, superintendent E. W. Brown has just made clear, is that truck and automobile caravans must find their own parking places, as police will not provide a central space for the vehicles as they did last year.

A campaign to discourage marchers is being conducted by police authorities. Inspector F. S. W. Burke, chief of detectives, has written to police chiefs of 14 major cities, urging them to attempt to prevent any groups in their areas from joining any trek to the capital.

Seize Still and Equipment

A still and complete equipment, along with a large quantity of alleged hard cider, apple whiskey and alcohol, were seized at Milan, Dutchess county, Tuesday, by investigators from the Kingston prohibition office. William Ortung was arrested and held for arraignment today before Commissioner Platt.

Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

The Business Girl Gets a Break

New York—The girl who goes to business and from there straight to a rendezvous has nearly always been handicapped by a very difficult problem which made her either overdressed at the office or not quite right afterward. She chortles with glee this winter over the way fashion has recognized her and designed frocks accordingly. Perhaps it is not so much that fashion has designed frocks, but that fashion has chosen materials that are none the worse for a day in the office or—what is even more to the point—not out of place there even at 9 a. m.

Slip into a good-looking wool frock at breakfast time and wear it until the curfew rings, and the chances are all for your being just right at 9 p. m.—or later. One sees as many high-necked gowns at plays or in restaurants as one does anywhere else—and just as many woolen or heavy crepe frocks. As for your hat, you will be surprised how one of the circular veils will dress it up, if it needs dressing up, or how an ornament may help.

It is rumored that some of the powers-that-be are advocating softer-colored dresses, instead of the more brilliant shades, this to provide one of those unexpected thrills on removing one's dark coat. But wear bright colors if you like them, since they are very much worn, and if you are the type to go in for purples it is a good year to indulge yourself.

So much has been said already on the subject of coats with removable fur pieces that there seems little need to dwell further on the matter except in its relation to the business girl, who may be glad to avail herself of the opportunity to omit fur. It may be that she cannot afford such furs or none, is a good rule to go by.

This goes for your evening coat also. Go as far as you can in the matter of luxurious furs, but do no substitute the cheaper ones. Rather, choose a collarless evening coat or the three-quarter swagger type with a scarf collar of the material.

THE BOW IS FUR

This dress introduces fur in a bow that confines the draped neckline. Sleeve width above the elbows, three-quarter length sleeves, wide shoulders and brown carved wooden buckles are other details of note.

The Unusual Is Usual in Accessories

The bag, scarf and cap ensemble is developed in beetroot red wool bandings with a red and white checked border. White wool fringe edges the ends.

The necktie at the bottom, designed for ski or sports clothes, is developed in wool braid with a Navajo design and self fringe edge. Revealing bands to match are also shown.

Taxpayers Offer Seven Amendments

taxes and still have the city tax collected in two installments as many taxpayers to obtain the discount would pay the entire amount of taxes instead of waiting to pay in two installments.

Referred to Laws and Rules.

All of the proposed local laws were referred to the laws and rules committee and the corporation counsel. It is expected that this committee will confer with the heads of the various city departments and also meet with Mr. Canfield to discuss the proposed amendments before submitting a report to the council.

Large Attendance

There was a large attendance of interested citizens present at the meeting to hear the proposed amendments read and explained.

Former Mayor Canfield when he was extended the privilege of the rostrum was greeted by hearty applause as he walked forward, and was also applauded as he finished his explanation of the proposed laws.

Bower Files $7,000 Claim

Louis A. Bower filed a claim for $7,000 damages to his property if the proposal to condemn part of his land for widening the Boulevard went through. The claim was referred to the auditing committee and corporation counsel.

On the recommendation of Corporation Counsel Chris J. Flanagan the aldermen rejected the claim of Gildersleeve & Son for damage to one of their trucks in August of this year.

North Manor Ave. Complaint

The residents of North Manor avenue filed objections to the assessment laid against their properties by reason of the building of a storm water sewer in that street. In the written protest it was set forth that a 12-inch sewer would have taken care of the drainage in that street but that the city had gone ahead and constructed a 24-inch sewer to take care of the drainage from the new state armory, and that the county and state should have been assessed more than they were. The residents asked for a hearing before the city authorities in the matter.

The request was referred to the laws and rules committee, corporation counsel and city assessor.

Home Relief Office

A request to transfer the sum of $600 from the general fund to pay salaries of the employes of the home relief office in the city hall up to the last of the year was approved.

To Complete Roosevelt Ave.

The work relief committee asked for permission to transfer the sum of $4,500 set aside for the Boulevard project to the Roosevelt avenue project so that work on that street could be completed. The request as granted.

Alderman Relyea voted "no" on the proposition on the ground that it discriminated against South Wall street which had been set up as a project and work started but never completed while Roosevelt avenue had not even been mentioned as a relief project. Alderman Relyea said it would seem that some one was not acting in good faith and that it appeared that the promise to complete South Wall street was only one of those political promises.

For Old Age Relief

The council also adopted the report of the finance committee favoring the appropriation of $21,000 for old age relief pensions by the issuing of certificates of indebtedness. Alderman Schwenk voted in favor of the proposition but stated he did so that those receiving pension checks would obtain their money, but he believed the money should be taken from the general fund of the city instead of by issuing certificates.

Those Voting Machines

At the November election four of the voting machines failed to register the vote recorded and Alderman Zucca offered a resolution that the supply committee be empowered to employ the services of a mechanic from the Automatic Registering Machine Corporation of Jamestown for the purpose of ascertaining the reason for the failure of the machines to properly register and record the vote and to adjust or repair such machines if same may be found necessary, and also a resolution that the machines be produced before a subcommittee of the county board of canvassers if the committee desired to look them over.

Both resolutions were adopted.

Delay in Leaf Gathering.

Alderman Relyea offered a resolution that the board of public works speed up the gathering of leaves from the streets. He said the council had been informed a month or so ago that the work would be done but that slow progress was being made. He said that the city was gathering and dumping leaves on Pine street, but he supposed that was because it was a Republican ward. He also introduced a resolution that garbage be collected at least twice a week. He had received complaints that garbage was only being taken up once a week in his ward.

Fair Street Parking.

The council adopted an amended ordinance which prohibits parking on Fair street except in the fire zone and 100 feet from the corner of North Front street.

Other Matters.

Alderman Schwenk offered a resolution that a light be placed on Park street about 300 feet in from Highland avenue.

Alderman Long introduced a resolution that arc light replace present small light at Third avenue and Elm street and that Elm street be repaired.

Alderman Haines, that the small light on pole 3026 on Cornell street be replaced with a larger light.

Extend Payments.

The council also approved the extending of the payments of the special assessments for sewers in North Manor avenue, Van Gaasbeck street and Mountain View avenue be extended over a period of three years.

Bills were read and referred to the auditing committee and the council then adjourned.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pleasing Frock for School or Home Wear.

7697. Wool crepe or light weight tweed is suggested for this model. Velvet would also be suitable. This model comprises a bloused waist to which the yoke sections of the skirt are joined. These sections extend in panel effect on the front and back and meet side portions cut with straight flares. Tucks create fulness on the shoulders and back of the waist. The sleeves may be in wrist length and finished with a band cuff as in the large view, or they may be short, with an upturned cuff, as in the small view. The high neck is featured and a narrow belt finishes the waistline.

Designed in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 10 with long sleeves will require 2¼ yards of 35 inch material. With short sleeves it will require 2 yards. To finish with bias binding as shown in the large view will require 1⅝ yard 1½ inch wide.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Although the small hat as an accompaniment of winter collars is a tradition, smart milliners are presenting the graceful, flattering, capeline as a formal hat.

The formul of extracting every vestige of ornamentation and construction elaboration from the dress, and heaping trimming, novelty of cut, and silhouette on the jacket, scores for the "top heavy" silhouette.

Fuzzy angora trimmings, being such important features in dresses, have a place cut out for them in sweaters as well, particularly the rabbit's hair and chenille models.

German Women in Politics

In Germany the republican constitution confers the same rights upon women as upon men. Through their influence in parliament, German women have been able to effect passage of laws beneficial to women.

"I've found how to make silk things last longer"

"Since we've had our automatic water-heater, I wash silk things out by hand every time I take them off. We have a friend who is a chemist in textiles who tells us that the slightest bit of perspiration left in the fabric will break down the fibre more quickly than either washing or wear."

"It's really simple to wash fine things in a hurry when everything is ready. I dissolve the soap in steaming hot water, then pour in cold until it is lukewarm. It only takes a little washing, but lots of rinsing. I usually rinse in at least three waters, all lukewarm. That gets out all the soap and saves the fabric."

"Having hot water always on tap makes it loads easier to do lots of other things, but I tell my husband that the automatic heater pays for itself by helping me to make my silks last longer."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Stocks were a bit unsettled today, but trading during most of the session was too dull to afford much idea as to what the market's intentions really were.

Although a few issues were affected by special developments, of a dividend or earnings nature, leaders on the whole remained in the trading area they had occupied earlier in the week and the market appeared to be retaining its professional aspect. Wheat's early steadiness helped keep traders cautious.

R. H. Macy flopped more than 4 points when directors announced discontinuance of the annual 5 per cent stock dividend, although the regular cash payment of 50 cents was maintained. American Telephone, off a couple of points prior to its dividend meeting, firmed when directors, as expected, voted another "regular" of $2.25 a share. Otherwise, fluctuations were small. Such stocks as U. S. Steel, American Tobacco "B", American Can, Case, Harvester, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Allied Chemical and New York Central were occasionally off from a fraction to about a point. Borden, Columbian Carbon and Air Reduction tended higher. Rails, as a group, were neglected.

Early reports of carloadings by individual roads indicated that a fairly sharp seasonal falling off might be registered for last week. New York Central's loadings were 52,755 cars against 51,658 the week before. Loadings for the week ended November 12 were 22.9 per cent below the corresponding 1931 figure. For the previous week the margin of decline was 13.7 per cent. St. Paul loadings for the week were 20,703 against 22,272 the previous week, the margin of decline from corresponding 1931 levels being 25.8 and 22.7 per cent, respectively.

Reports that loan requests upon the Reconstruction Finance Corp. were declining somewhat further were well received, particularly the statement that the nation's banks which in the past year had borrowed approximately $900,000,000 had already repaid more than a quarter of these loans.

Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of our son, William E. Astalos, who passed away three years ago today, November 16, 1929.

How we miss you William darling,
Every day still more and more,
But God grant some day we'll meet you
On that blissful heavenly shore.
Oft and oft our thoughts do wander
To his grave so far away,
Where we gently lowered his body
Just three years ago today.

MOTHER, FATHER AND BROTHERS.

Those present from Tongore community were Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Davis, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Weidner, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Merrihew and L. B. Davis. Sidney Levene of Ellenville and Harry Kaplowitz of Hurley were also present.

The program included brief reports by Miss Evelyn Nance, manager of the Home Bureau; Barnard Joy, county 4-H Club agent; W. J. Clark, assistant Farm Bureau manager, and Albert Kurdt, manager of the Farm Bureau. C. L. Allen, chairman of the county dairy committee, gave an outline of the dairy program for the coming year. New features will include a better sires program, disease control and marketing of milk.

C. H. Weidner, chairman of the county poultry committee, reported on the plans outlined by his committee. A very intensive poultry program is planned for the coming year, including a drive to "grow better pullets," a poultry exposition, regular monthly poultry meetings, paid culling and personal information service.

A feature of the program was an address by E. S. Foster, secretary of the State Farm Bureau Federation. He cited many definite cases as to how the Federation was helping individual members. He stated that the farmer can maintain his independence through organized effort. He pointed out how the Federation has been gathering information and data during the past few years, which was influential in securing a more equal distribution of gas tax revenue, state aid to schools and highways, and numerous other laws which have benefited the farmer. A stronger organization will be needed to hold the gains made during recent years.

Material was then distributed to the various committeemen present to be used in the canvass for members which will be made during the next two weeks.

I am asking the children of the Industrial Home to attend the performance of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" on December 9 as my guests. Will you please communicate with the superintendent so that seats may be reserved for them?

After 50 years of wedded life it was an unusual occurrence to have with them all the sons and daughters with their wives, husbands and families. While the wedding march was being played the bride and groom of 50 years entered the club house as each one of the sons and daughters, numbering eight in all, according to age fell in line and marched to their respective places at the table with the daughters and their families forming at the mother's right, the sons and their families at the father's right. After a most delicious turkey dinner had been enjoyed by all, the remainder of the evening was spent in games and singing with accompanying music from the piano and radio. The couple were the happy recipients of numerous gifts of various descriptions including several gold pieces and they were extremely thankful to all who made this happy event one for all to remember the remainder of their lives. # Parent-Teacher Associations

The regular meeting of No. 7 P.-T. A. was held Tuesday evening at the school, with a large attendance of both mothers and fathers. A short report on the Ulster County Conference was read by the president. The campaign for new members, which had been made by the children with a Halloween party as a goal for which to work, resulted in the enrollment of 260 new members, which more than doubled the enrollment of 106 members of last year. The posters made by the students to boost this campaign were exhibited and judged by the members present, and a prize of a large set of poster paints was awarded to William Van der Loy of Miss Feldman's room. Mr. Flanerty suggested that after roll call the teachers return to their rooms and there meet the parents to answer any problems they might wish to present about the work or conduct of their children. This will be made a general practice. Dr. Henry L. Bibby was the guest speaker and gave a practical and instructive talk on child psychology, his subject being, "Parent, Teacher, or Child?" He stressed the importance of discipline begun in early infancy and the agreement of mother and father on that discipline. He believes that children should be so trained in their early years that when they go to school the teachers should have only to educate and not also to teach discipline. A rising vote of thanks was given to Dr. Bibby in appreciation of his talk.

PUNTS and PASSES

(By The Associated Press)

New Haven, Conn.—The Yale-Harvard game may not be a sell-out this year, but it is certain to draw one of the season's largest football crowds, already 55,000 tickets have been allotted and the remaining 16,000 seats in the Bowl have been placed on public sale.

Milwaukee, Wis.—William Pace of Omaha isn't one of Marquette's outstanding players but no one can claim he is below the average. Pace is 20 years old, five feet eleven tall and weighs 177 pounds. And the measurements of the 49 members of the varsity squad average up exactly to those figures.

Hanover, N. H.—To Philip J. Glazer of Memphis, Tenn., goes the honor of being the first southerner ever to captain a Dartmouth football team. Glazer, who plays tackle, was elected yesterday to guide the 1933 eleven.

Detroit—The University of Detroit boasts a real all-around football player in Harvey Wrathell. Last year he was used at end, tackle and center. He started this season as the pivot post but later was shifted to guard. And he played in the backfield in high school.

Minneapolis—Minnesota has joined the long list of colleges which have decided to cut prices on football tickets. Seats in the curved end of the stadium for the Michigan game will be sold at $1.65 instead of $2.75, it was announced yesterday. It is the first time prices have been slashed for a Big Ten game since the stadium was built in 1924.

Cambridge, Mass.—If Harvard doesn't beat Yale Saturday the cause can't be attributed to injuries. Every member of the squad was in uniform yesterday and Charlie Nevin, halfback who was hurt in the Army game, was regarded as the only doubtful starter.

Columbus, O.—After relying on passes for most of its gains through the season, Ohio State has discovered a back who can make a real success of line plunging. Wetzel gained so consistently through the Penn line last week that the Buckeyes are expected to use more running plays than usual against Illinois Saturday.

New York—Since Cliff Montgomery was hurt a couple of weeks ago, one of Columbia's big problems has been whether he would be able to play or whether Joe Linehan would replace him. Now that he is back in shape, Linehan has become too good to be dropped from the varsity. So both probably will start against Syracuse.

Bethlehem, Pa.—Lehigh not only occupies its usual place as underdog in the advance "dope" on the Lafayette game, but added troubles face the Engineers. Captain Chick Halstead has been forced to leave college because of a breakdown in health.

Philadelphia—It was just the start of Pennsylvania's preparations for the Cornell game yesterday, but to a casual observer it might have looked like the start of a season's practice. The Quakers worked on the tackling dummy and the blocking and charging machines and wound up with calisthenics.

Army Preparing For Two Big Games

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Judging from the reticence of Army football coaches and the great secrecy of practice, special preparations for the coming major games with Notre Dame and Navy are under way. It is believed that any new formations or plays developed for use against West Point's last opponents for the 1932 season will be tested this Saturday against West Virginia Wesleyan.

While the Cadets are a heavy favorite, it is certain that the "Bob Cats" will put up strong opposition. They have already played Duquesne, Washington and Jefferson, Georgetown and West Virginia.

The Saturday afternoon full dress reviews preceding football games have been discontinued. This feature of a trip to West Point will be missed by Army followers but because of the condition of the turf, Military Academy authorities decided that the grass on the parade ground needed special treatment. No further parades or reviews will be held until next spring.

Navy-Rambler and Oregon-Fordham Games Attractive

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Eastern fans who like their football flavored with the spice of intersectional combat will divide their interest this week between the Cleveland Stadium and New York's Polo Grounds.

At Cleveland, an up-and-coming Navy eleven will face the Notre Dame Ramblers. In the Polo Grounds, Paul Schissler's Oregon State outfit faces Fordham.

Navy, despite the vast improvement it has shown in its last two games, will be conceded little chance against Notre Dame. The Midshipmen have been, and still are, pointing for the Army game at Philadelphia December 3, and have taken every other game on their schedule in stride. No exception is likely to be made in Notre Dame's case.

Navy Has Power

But the Cleveland battle nevertheless looks like it will be a much more closely fought contest than seemed likely a few weeks ago. Navy gave Columbia a terrific struggle before bowing, 7-6, ten days ago, and then showed its first real display of power in romping over Maryland, 28-7, last week.

Since their defeat by Pitt, Notre Dame definitely has failed to measure up to expectations. The Ramblers were unimpressive against Kansas, and their blocking against Northwestern last Saturday left something to be desired. Still there is plenty of power there with such backs as Koken, Melinkovich and Jaskwhich to carry the ball and this may be the week in which the Ramblers will return to top form.

Rams Come Back

Fordham has come back nicely since suffering successive defeats by Michigan State and Boston College and eastern critics would not hesitate to pick the Rams over Oregon State were it not for the fact they know, from bitter experience, the high standard of play far western teams are wont to flash when they invade the east.

Fordham already holds one decision over the far west this season, whipping St. Mary's highly touted Gaels in decisive fashion. On the basis of that victory they should win fairly easily from Oregon State which has suffered four defeats so far—by Stanford, 27-0; Southern California, 10-0; Washington State, 7-6, and Oregon, 12-6.

American Legion Basketball Team Starts Thanksgiving

Ed Coughlin's American Legion basketball team which last season played some sensational games in this vicinity, will open its 1932-33 schedule on Thanksgiving Day, he announced today, meeting a formidable band of opponents in the local armory.

Playing with the Legion will be Norm Niles, Herb Van Deusen, "Bun" Smith, Pete Bruck, Jimmy Merritt and Dick Donlon. All of the players except Donlon are familiar to fans of Kingston, being members of strong teams that play hereabouts. Donlon is a Cohoes man, working in Kingston, and is considered as one of the best basketball players in the upstate region. He is a son of Manager Donlon who handled the Cohoes team in the old Hudson Valley League and was recommended to Ed Coughlin by W. J. Trombley, past commander of the Albany County American Legion.

Preliminary to the holiday attraction there will be a girls game. Dancing will follow with music by a popular orchestra.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Attendance at Harvard's home football games has dropped so sharply this season that Athletic Director Bill Bingham's estimates of a revenue of $775,000 may be optimistic, yet the Harvard A. A. News appears to point with some pride to the fact that "no cut has been made in the salaries of any of the coaches."

If not, the casual observer may inquire, why not? Is this to be considered a measure of athletic achievement, along with the team's winning record?

It seems that Harvard's athletic administration, due to economies in the reduction of spring trips, etc., was "only one or two thousand dollars in the red" at the outset of the current gridiron season.

Moreover, "in regard to the salaries of the various coaches," Bingham explained that only four of them get over $5,000 a year. The H. A. A. News goes on to say:

"No coach gets the same pay as a full professor in these days, a misunderstanding which seems to have arisen, but only at the most an amount equal to that which a professor received back in 1922. A total of $111,800 is used for the salaries of 62 coaches, allowing for duplication in sports, so that the average would come to about $1,803 per coach.

"Football is the only sport in which a net profit is made and therefore has to pay for all the other sports. Baseball earns $17,700 and pays out $28,132; crew takes in $3,600 and expends $34,300; hockey tickets net $9,600 but $21,200 is used in expenditures; track takes in $13,700 and pays out $39,400; swimming, a minor sport, earns $2,300 but spends $7,000."

Where It Goes

For those who may wonder where the big money goes in football, Bingham thus apportions the anticipated $775,000 to be collected by Harvard this football season as follows:

"Only $330,991 will be spent altogether on football and $217,450 of that sum will go as guarantees to visiting teams. This leaves only about $113,000 to cover all the university football costs, some of the major items of which are as follows: expense of games, $27,000; outfitting, $8,300; equipment, $5,500; doctors, $4,000; rubbing, $3,000; services and wages, $8,500; coaching, $25,000; travel, $7,000, and a host of other smaller expenses.

"The total planned expenditures for all sports in the coming year are $886,191, as compared with the anticipated total receipts from all sports of around $925,500."

Football No Luxury

Intercollegiate football, as Bill Bingham views it, is not a luxury for the simple reason that it supports nearly all other athletics.

Apart from the guarantees, which do not help the home forces, Bingham figures at Harvard that only $85,000 would be saved, if the intercollegiate program (which, of course, he prefers) should be suddenly shelved for a strictly intramural athletic plan.

Petey Hayes Wins From Spanish Boxer

Petey Hayes, featherweight boxer of the East Side, New York, and Saugerties, scored a surprising upset by winning the decision over Vidal Gregorio, stablemate of Kid Chocolate, in the eight-round semi-final to the Chocolate vs. Nebo fight in the St. Nicholas Arena, New York, Monday. Hayes, according to New York papers, shows plenty of promise. He has punching speed and possesses unusual stamina.

The experts thought Gregorio would defeat Hayes, but he was not strong enough. Pete's victory puts him in line for a return squabble with Pete Sanstol, Norwegian champion, the only man who has defeated him. Hayes once held the National amateur featherweight championship.

WEST HURLEY.

West Hurley, Nov. 16.—After voting Tuesday, Mr. and Miss Fischer continued on to New York city, where they obtained the election results amid the excitement and settings of that great metropolis.

A definite indication that business is on the upward trend was the receiving of a telegram by Daniel A. Rooney, Jr., signed "Santa Claus." It contained a plea for aid in the manufacture of lead soldiers for the filling of Christmas stockings. Daniel immediately went to work and now turns out daily a complete squad of American soldiers mounted on a cardboard. He is busy filling and soliciting orders. So now we have in the village an infant industry.

Everett Hammond was suddenly removed to the Kingston Hospital for an operation due to a hernia. He is recovering slowly but it will be some time before he will be up and about.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the West Hurley M. E. Church was held last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Saxe. It was decided at this meeting to introduce a novel method to raise funds. It will be termed a traveling suit case. Each member is to furnish two articles with which these suit cases are to be filled. Each bag is then started on its tour and each recipient is to make two purchases amongst the articles found within the bag and which suits his or her requirements or fancy. They then replenish the contents with two other articles and send it along to the next prospect. Details will be announced later.

Robert Browning is exceedingly busy these days with his many American Legion activities, to which are added his duties at the kennels. He however managed to squeeze in a luncheon talk to the Kingston Kiwanis Club, then galloped off to attend a dog exhibit being held in Boston.

Miss Evelyn Saxe was the soloist at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Kingston, last Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. George Berry and son spent a week-end in Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rice spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Moscher.

Frank Hubbard and family from Larchmont, N. Y., were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Saxe.

Mrs. L. Brower is spending the winter with her son in Lutherville, Maryland.

Moderation of the weather will enable the painters to get busy repainting the exterior of the church.

An interesting and exciting debate was conducted in the school with speakers representing the two major political parties. A vote was taken after the debate and F. D. Roosevelt scored. The "Chatter Box" made its first appearance of the season under the new staff and created a creditable interest.

It is certainly great to see Mr. Wilbur up and about after that recent siege of illness.

Daniel A. Rooney, Sr., has recently received from the War Department a gold medal, officially termed "The Silver Star Pendant." One side is embossed with the inscription "For Gallantry in Action." The full name of the possessor is engraved thereon.

The epidemic of Halloween parties is about over. There was one at the home of William and Colinda Gaynor, another at Delores Cram's and still another, down the post office way, at the Joyce's.

Miss May McAuliffe spent the week-end in New York city.

Headquarters Men Trim A Battery

In an indoor baseball game at the armory Tuesday night, Headquarters Battery defeated A Battery, 41-33. As indicated by the score there was plenty of hitting done by both teams. Shults pitched for Headquarters and Van Buren caught. Costello was on the mound for A Battery and Sass behind the bat.

The score by innings:

Headquarters .440 13 3 4 421—41
A Battery ...457 3 6 6 032—33

Umpires—Giles behind the plate; Houghtaling and Richards on bases.

H. S. Alumni To Meet Varsity

When the Poughkeepsie High School football game was cancelled again for this Saturday, Coach Kiss suggested that the Alumni form a team and play his varsity this Saturday afternoon on the Kingston Fair Grounds.

"The game is settled within reasonable doubt," Kiss said this morning. The Alumni has but three days in which to prepare for the combat and Bill O'Reilly, coach of the Kingston Yellow Jackets, will direct the team and instruct the boys in the system that has made his Yellow Jackets famous.

The Alumni will work out tonight at 7 o'clock in the high school gym. The boys will practice in old clothes and will not be able to don a uniform until the afternoon of the game. Some of the boys haven't played in years.

A number of the Alumni squad are ex-stars of the high school varsity. Few of them have been selected as All-Hudson Valley players during their days in high school. The boys, however, will be handicapped because of their condition. A number of men were mentioned for various positions but nothing definite has been settled yet as to a lineup.

It is thought that this match will draw a heavy gate as many of the former players are well known and many fans who have not been attending the games will probably attend this one to see a number of the ex-Maroon warriors in action once more.

Expect Record Crowd At High School Play

According to a report given this morning by the Athletic Association of Kingston High School, the tickets for the play to be given Friday night by the association in the high school auditorium, are going fine. It appeared that the early days of sale were not so favorable but all reports this week show a great increase and at this pace a record crowd will see the R. P. I. Players present Noel Coward's three act comedy, "The Young Idea."

This play will undoubtedly please both the young and old. Its lines are rich with humor—that rare humor that has made Noel Coward one of the most outstanding playwrights of his day. Another of his great successes, "Hay Fever," was reproduced in New York last year after previously being presented with overwhelming success. It was received with as much enthusiasm by the public the second time as it was the first.

The scenes of the play, "The Young Idea," are laid in Europe. First we are introduced to the hunting country of England and then later to Allasio, Italy, where the hilarious ending takes place. Throughout the three acts the two irrepressible youngsters, Gerda and Sholto, whose mother and father have been separated for a number of years, employ damnable devices in an effort to regulate the affairs of the family, according to their conception of a harmonious family. Their purpose is to bring together again their father and mother.

Fox plays the part of a husband married to his second wife, Miriam Gifford, and separated from his first, Lydia Shyne. The son and daughter, Edmund Fitzgerald and Lynn Bennett, try to reconcile the father and mother (first wife). No sympathy is expended on his second wife as she is in love with the other man, George Frost.

Grenda and Sholto manage to upset both households. Much entertainment is created in the process. The cast consists of seven women and seven men, most of whom are minor characters.

H. S. Senior Dance Tickets Now on Sale

The tickets for the Kingston High School Senior dance to be held in the high school gym on Thanksgiving night, November 24, are now on sale. The bids were given out last Friday and reports say that they are selling rapidly. The price has been reduced considerably and this alone is expected to draw a large gathering.

The annual affair of the seniors on Thanksgiving night is generally the most colorful event of the year. The committee is now working along the lines of how to decorate the gym. As yet plans for that have not been completed.

George Smith and his seven piece orchestra have been engaged for the occasion. Many of the college students who are graduates of Kingston High School always attend the dance. It is sort of a family gathering where old acquaintances are renewed.

The committee for the dance and from whom tickets may be obtained are as follows: William Gaffkin, chairman; Helen O'Meara, Tita Balfe, Alfred Marz, John Clarke and June MacFadden.

My Dear Mr. Schoonmaker:

From personal contact and observation, I believe that the Y. M. C. A. is one of our city organizations doing a constructive piece of work for men and boys. Here, men may meet men in social surroundings conducive to good fellowship, and boys may contact with boys in games and contests in an atmosphere of moral and social uplift.

I wish the Y. M. C. A. facilities could be used by a greater number of men, and especially by a greater number of boys of school age.

I trust your campaign for increased membership will be successful.

Very truly yours,
B. C. VAN INGEN.

Gave Reception For Miss Scardefield

On Friday evening, November 11, Clinton Chapter, No. 445, Order of the Eastern Star, gave a reception to Miss Alice M. Scardefield, who was recently elected to the office of associate grand conductress of the Grand Chapter, State of New York.

The program, which had been arranged by the local chapter as a tribute to Miss Scardefield, started with a dinner at the Governor Clinton Hotel where covers were laid in the private dining room for 100 guests. This was followed by a meeting at Masonic Hall which was crowded to the limit of its capacity by members of the order from many sections of the state. The lodge rooms had been very beautifully decorated and from the profusion of flowers used in the decorations the room presented a veritable garden spot.

The chapter was particularly honored on this occasion by the presence of all the elective officers of the grand chapter who are Mrs. Katherine J. Church of Hamilton, grand matron; Mrs. Nettie V. Higgins of Rockaway Beach, associate grand matron; Mrs. Georgina Scardefield of Yonkers, grand treasurer; Mrs. Annie M. Pond of Douglaston, grand secretary; and Mrs. May B. Johnson of Albany, grand conductress. Other prominent members of the fraternity present were Mrs. May M. Gooderson of Brooklyn, Mrs. Emma J. Bergman of Mt. Vernon, Mrs. Nan Reid Coy of Oneonta, and Miss Grace V. Merritt of Kingston, all of whom are past grand matrons of the order, and Louis P. Haubbennestel of Poughkeepsie, a past grand patron.

A large part of the program was given over to addresses by the visiting grand officers. During the evening the officers of the chapter beautifully presented a special degree in honor of Miss Scardefield. Vocal solos which added greatly to the effectiveness of this degree were given by Mrs. Elizabeth M. Kieffer and Mrs. Laura S. Winters. Other numbers on the program were a dance by little Miss Beverly Bonesteel and Master Weyhe, and a drill given by 12 young girls from Rosendale.

Miss Scardefield received many lovely gifts from friends and organizations, and a gift of gold from her home chapter. George B. Styles, patron of the chapter, presented a gorgeous basket of chrysanthemums to Miss Scardefield on behalf of Kingston Lodge No. 10, F. and A. M.

At the close of the meeting a buffet luncheon was served, and the members had the pleasure of meeting the state officers, informally.

Much credit for the success of the entire meeting is due Mrs. Edna L. Van Tassell, worthy matron of the chapter, and her officers who assisted her in planning this meeting.

DISTINGUISH TWO LOCAL CONCERT GROUPS.

Unfortunately there continues to be much confusion in the minds of many people as to the Kingston Community Concert Association concerts and the Kingston Symphony Orchestra concerts.

The Kingston Community Concert Association has brought to Kingston three concerts of out of town artists, the first one of which was given at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Monday evening of this week by Fray and Braggiotti in a two piano recital.

Subscription tickets for these concerts were all sold out several weeks ago and it is now impossible to secure tickets for the other two concerts as advanced subscriptions are absolutely necessary in order to secure the artists.

The Kingston Symphony concerts are given by a large group of musicians under the direction of Prof. George H. Muller and all of the musicians are people of Kingston and Ulster county, none of whom receive any compensation beyond the privilege and joy of participating in the production of symphonic orchestral programs. Some time ago letters were sent out by the board of directors and people were asked to become patrons for the Symphony Orchestra concerts and thus support the best in music given by local musicians, for this organization, like the other, must have an initial guarantee fund. These patron tickets are yet for sale and will be for some time, as the first concert will not occur until January—the exact date to be given after the meeting of the board of education on Friday evening of this week. By becoming patrons the people of the community are giving assurance of a financial backing of the local organization at no extra cost, as the tickets which they will receive—five for each of two concerts—will amount in the end to exactly the price of single tickets of that number.

Mrs. Arthur Gagnon, telephone 1556-W, is the official collector of patron subscriptions for the Symphony Society, and can give any necessary information regarding the same.

Additional patrons have been secured as follows: Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Gorman, Thomas Horton, Dr. Paul Perlman, E. H. Chilson, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hathaway, Dr. and Mrs. McCambridge, Mrs. Elsa Knauth, Prof. Clarence Dumm, Mrs. J. William Leary, Leonard Stine.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

"Hero at Switch."

Vincennes, Ind.—The man who fell asleep at the switch bears no resemblance to Fireman James Freeman, who was being congratulated as a hero today as he lay in a hospital.

Freeman leaped from a train to throw a switch. He fell, broke two ribs and dislocated his shoulder. Although suffering great pain, he crawled to the switch and threw it in time to permit a fast passenger train to pass on a clear track, thus averting possible disaster.

Then he fainted beside the switch, only a few inches from the speeding wheels of the express.

The Cautious Crooks.

Cleveland—Yes, it was "pay day" at the Cleveland Transfer Company. "Are you sure?" a voice on the telephone inquired of J. T. Durkin, manager. "I'm positive," replied Durkin. Five minutes later, four men held up eight employes and escaped with $1,800.

Or Ambassador, or Something.

Boise, Idaho—When bigger jobs are available, Senator-elect James P. Pope will be asked for them. He told of a be-whiskered citizen coming to him since the election to get a job. He was a graduate of Cornell University, he told the senator-elect.

"I'm qualified for a cabinet post," he said seriously, "but it will be all right if I am made head of a department in Washington."

Very Little Scalping Now, Lady.

Oklahoma City—For the benefit of Mrs. R. Blanchard of Lake Helen, Fla., and any others who may share her fears, the state Chamber of Commerce would like to have it known that there's virtually no danger of anybody's being scalped by Indians in Oklahoma nowadays.

Mrs. Blanchard wrote to the chamber:

"Is it safe for a woman to drive her car alone through Oklahoma? How far is it between villages, and are there white men along the way?"

Pie In The Regular Manner.

Kansas City—Alfred N. Gossett, councilman, was the recipient of a huge custard pie at the weekly caucus of the city fathers. But it was not tossed at Councilman Gossett comedy style. He and other members ate it in celebration of his 71st birthday.

Widow Makes Sure.

Detroit—Mrs. Victoria E. Hurd took no chances of molestation when she attended the funeral of her husband, William F. Hurd, former wealthy Detroit lumberman. She secured a court order restraining her five stepchildren and the undertaker from attempting to prevent her from "taking her rightful place as widow among the mourners."

"Canned" Music

El Campo, Tex.—Mayor A. L. Lincecum of El Campo solved the question of music for a charity ball. A dance orchestra was haled into court for traffic violation. Hizzoner found all guilty and sentenced them to three hours hard labor. They are to be dressed as convicts and the chief of police has been instructed to see that a guard is placed over them.

The Chug-Chug Candidate

Larned, Kas.—Barton Avery, 24-year-old treasurer-elect of Pawnee county, campaigned in a $25 automobile. He visited every township three times in his primary and general election stumping, drove in all 4,000 miles and called at least once at every house in the county.

Would Tax Bodies, Too!

Clifton, N. J.—Clifton, like many municipalities, needs additional revenue. So Councilman Leonard Ward introduced a resolution at City Council meeting last night to collect a tax of $1 for each body buried in East and West Ridgelawn cemeteries. No action was taken.

Tabling the Bills

He died a year ago, but his fortune was not found until the other day when a carpenter going over the table which has been sold at auction, found $60,000 in negotiable securities secreted inside.

Heirs in Germany will benefit.

Getting Into The Movies

Chicago—Gum chewing and listless stenographers better watch out. Noway they're using moving pictures of office employes, taken when they are not looking, to find out where there's any waste motion.

A demonstration of such movies was held at the Society of Industrial Engineers. They run them slowly so nothing will be missed.

Aren't We Fortunate

Chicago—When a dentist uses two or three instruments on your teeth, don't shudder. You haven't seen anything yet, for there are really 6,000 items in the full kit of the profession.

Jail Changes Beer Views

Joliet, Ill.—Perhaps Joseph West concluded he was too optimistic. He asked police to lock him up, vowing he would stay in jail until legal beer returns, but after 12 hours of confinement he changed his mind, and was released.

Rescues Exhausted Swimmer

HERE a Red Cross life-saver is seen towing a helpless bather to safety. It is not an actual rescue, but a demonstration for the benefit of a class of students in water safety. The life-saving service of the Red Cross teaches methods of approaching struggling swimmers, avoiding or breaking strangle-holds, towing the unconscious or wearied to the shore and resuscitating the apparently drowned, together with the general technique of making swimming and boating safe.

At The Theatres

Today.

Kingston: "Washington Merry-Go-Round". Politics is taken for a ride in this dramatic and intensely entertaining story of Washington and what goes on behind the scenes in the capitol city. The story concerns a young congressman, who goes to Washington on votes that were purchased. His aim is to double cross the rotten gang that sent him there, and work for the interests of his country. When he gets there, he finds that even the men who run the country's affairs are prone to corruption and self interest. That is the plot, but the show is handled so capably, the acing is so sincere, and the direction so well handled, that this talkie is one of the most diverting and entertaining pictures offered for public consumption during the year. Lee Tracy, Constance Cummings, and Alan Dinehart are the principal players, with James Cruze directing. This show has everything. Recommended as superlative entertainment.

Broadway: "Three on a Match." Here's appealing entertainment, with a fine cast headed by Warren William, and supported by Joan Blondell, Bette Davis, and Ann Dvorak. Its plot moves along in somewhat the manner of "Grand Hotel" in that it depicts the lives of various members of the cast, and blends them skillfully into the whole of the picture. In the story are three girls, schoolmates, who separate and meet again after many years. All have led different lives, and what happens when they are all together again, is novel screen drama. The show has many clever lines, some real laughs, and its share of tragedy. Something to see.

Ritz: "The Trial of Vivienne Ware." A swell mystery-comedy drama with Joan Bennett playing the part of a girl accused of murder. Most of the action takes place in the court room, and the scenes are packed with humor and action. Donald Cook, Skeets Gallagher, and Zazu Pitts are also in the cast.

Tomorrow.

Kingston: "Grand Hotel." The now famous talkie version of Vicki Baum's novel returns to the Kingston screen at popular prices. The story, a cross section of life as seen in a gigantic European hotel, offers drama, romance, comedy, excitement, and sorrow, all blended together in a skillful manner. The cast of the play brings together a group of Hollywood's aristocracy of stars. It includes John Barrymore, Greta Garbo, Joan Crawford, Lionel Barrymore, Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery and Jean Hersholt. The sets in this production are lavish in their grandeur, and no expense was spared in the making of this movie masterpiece. This picture gives the theatre goer an opportunity of comparing the ability of various stars, as they all work together in this show. Worth seeing.

Orpheum: "Up for Murder." The story of a boy, trapped in a net of evidence, with death awaiting the verdict. Lew Ayres and Genevieve Tobin are together in this one.

Broadway: Same.

Ritz: "Man About Town." Warner Baxter and Karen Morley are together for the first time in this interesting story that gives promise of developing these two stars into a first-class film team.

Palace On Wheels Here On Thursday

Al. Terpening has just received a wire from E. L. Vanderhoff, president of the No-Eke-Wall Polish Company, makers of cleaner and polish for auto and furniture, stating that the Palace On Wheels will arrive in Kingston Thursday at noon.

Mr. Terpening states that the public is invited to come to his station at Broadway and Albany avenue to inspect same.

The Palace On Wheels is the last word in highway transportation, built at a cost of over $40,000. The bus is 40 feet long, and 12 feet 4 inches high, and is capable of doing 70 miles an hour.

Upon entering the front door, one walks into a well furnished dining room with every convenience. From dining room one enters a modern kitchen which is equipped with electric ice box, electric cooker, hot and cold running water, and many other small articles that are needed in this department. Next we see the shower bath. Next we walk into a comfortable living room furnished with wicker furniture.

At the rear of the bus on the outside one mounts a ladder to the observation platform on the second deck. Here is room to comfortably seat 20 persons. Forward of this platform one enters a bedroom with four built in double berths to accommodate eight persons. Adjoining the bedroom is a roomy wardrobe closet and dressing room with hot and cold running water.

This Palace On Wheels, arriving Thursday noon, will be here until Saturday afternoon and if the public have not all been shown through the Palace On Wheels, Mr. Terpening has been assured by Mr. Vanderhoff of the No-Eke-Wall Company that it will be held over another day or so until all people have had the opportunity to visit it. Frank E. Stay, general distribution manager, will be in charge of the bus during its stay in Kingston.
